readiness to receive the "groat" C., the south end by Monday.

About 100 people, principally farmers and wage earners, gathered at the ings being in every way of greater beauty and value than the structures destroyed.

WHEN A CLASSIC COIFFURE IS BECOMING.

Not every girl could afford to show the contour of her head in this frank style, but for the girl with a small, well-shaped head and regular features this classic hairdressing is charming. The hair is waved and parted and the ends are twisted into a figure eight, placed across the head, instead of up and down, just above the nape of the neck. Over the front of the hair runs a flat fillet or band—in this case a shell bandeau set with small rhinestones was used. A most important point in the building of this coiffure, is the arrangement of soft curls and waves in front of the fillet on forehead and temples.

No Better Car at Any Price

THERE isn't an automobile in the $1,800 class that offers more genuine value than this big, beautiful, easy riding Maxwell Touring Car. In workmanship, quality, style, it certainly has no superior. Efficiency, durability and economical maintenance are absolutely certain in this model. Built for constant and unfailing service, it is simple to operate, easy to care for and easy to handle in crowded traffic.

No need to crawl underneath this car. Everything is readily accessible. Spring-hinged floors enable you to reach any part underneath the body. Simple control, absence of complicated mechanism, simple and effective oiling system render a chauffeur unnecessary. Motoring is a pleasure.

Every feature is the best and most approved. Unit construction, three-point suspension, multiple-disc clutch, shaft drive, water cooling and metal bodies are points of construction that were incorporated in the first Maxwell made. Only the most expensive cars employ them. Today, most moderate-priced cars have adopted some. None have all except the Maxwell.

Foremost engineers approve these features. They insure, more than anything else, Maxwell reliability, durability and low maintenance cost. In public achievement this car has no equal.
Persistently and constantly it has scored in every event in which it has participated.

Don't Fail to See This Model

If you intend purchasing an automobile, this Model deserves your closest inspection. Don't part with your money before you have investigated its wonderful value. It is a great seller and our allotment is going fast. Let us take you out in it—tell you its history—explain how simple it is, both mechanically and to operate—compare its value with that of any other car. In any event, read about it if you cannot come in. We will put evidence before you that will aid you in making your motor car investment. A postal will do. Just say, "Mail Book."
